

Mac Cockrell

Mac grew up in middle-class Atlanta, Georgia. In 1998 he was drawn to two college freshmen who “had everything”—brains, looks, money, athletic ability—yet they chose to serve Jesus. In them, Mac saw firsthand a walk with Christ like he had heard about in church but never before seen. He made it his own, and nothing has been average for this normal guy since.

Upon graduating from Georgia State University with a degree in Speech Communication, Mac knew God had called him to communicate biblical truths and life application to today’s church. Three years later, he surrendered to that call to preach. His passion is to see current and future generations truly “get it”—that Christians are real people with real struggles, desires, abilities, and stories. And they love a real Savior.

In addition to serving as a staff Revivalist with Life Action Ministries, Mac also gives overall direction to the youth ministry for Life Action. He received his M. Div. from Mid-America Baptist Theological Seminary in Memphis, Tennessee. He and his wife, Chelsea, now live in Auburn, Alabama, with their dog, Rocky.
